WOODLAWN FARMERS' CLUB.

[Reported for the Gazette.]

The October meeting of the Woodlawn Farmers' Club assembled at Verrandale, the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Gillingham, on the 21st and came to order at the call of the President, E. E. Mason, about 4 p. m.

Mr. Harrison said that the early frost injured his velvet beans and the corn with which they were planted as they could not speak as to their feeding value. He thinks the experiment worth trying again and recommends planting early, with the first planting of corn for silage or ensilage. Stock eat it freely. The vine of the bean would interfere with cutting the corn with a corn harvester.

J. W. Roberts read the following resolutions which were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, an all-wise Providence has removed by death since our last meeting one of our most valued members, Major O. E. Hine.

Be it Resolved, That while we bow to the decree which has taken from us one of our most useful and active members, we do so with a heavy heart, and with a sense of loss which will be felt by all who knew him.

Major Hine, a very practical and successful farmer, was always ready to devote his time and talents to the aid of his brother farmers in either a public or private capacity, and was a safe advisor to many in different walks of life. His death, which we so greatly deplore, leaves a blank in our midst that will be hard to fill.

We deeply mourn the loss of our brother farmer and club member and feel that the community, the county and the State has lost one of its most useful, able and honored citizens and we sympathize most deeply in the bereavement of his family.

We move that the above be spread upon the minutes of the club and that a copy of the same be sent to the family of the deceased.

Charles M. Pidgeon exhibited some samples of early maturing corn and vernal sweet potatoes, and Lewis Gillingham exhibited two very large white potatoes from the farm of his son-in-law in Ohio.

E. E. Mason planted corn between his field corn at the time of the last working and reported that it made a lot of fodder and he thinks it did not injure the other corn. Chas. Pidgeon planted his field corn in checks 3x3 feet and was pleased with the experiment.

The president introduced to the meeting Mr. George K. Holmes, of the Department of Agriculture, who read an interesting paper on Farm Economics. He gave statistics showing the financial condition of the farmers and farm laborers in different sections of the United States and drew his conclusion that the reason the farmer is not in a better condition financially is because he does not produce wealth enough, measured in exchange, to better his condition.

He also recommended farmers' combinations and referred to several that have been a success.

The club tendered Mr. Holmes a unanimous vote of thanks and then entered into a general discussion on the topics of his paper.

This club endeavored about a year ago to organize a combination of milk producers, but failed because the producers themselves would not take the necessary interest in it.

J. W. Roberts thought he had such an organization in effect this year the gain to the producer the past season would have paid the expenses of the organization for several years.

The club then adjourned for supper. After supper the president called the club to order and on motion of T. S. Wright, Mr. J. P. H. Mason, of Accomack, was unanimously elected a member.

The club then adjourned to meet at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Gibbs, near Mt. Vernon, November 11.

CHAS. M. PIDGEON, Sec'y.

THE COMING WINTER.—A weather prophet predicts that the coming winter will be a mild one for the following reasons: "The husks on the corn are thinner than usual, and this is taken as a sure indication of warm weather until late in the winter. Birds that go south with the first approach of winter have begun repairing their nests by this spring, showing that they will stay in this region until late in the fall. The fur of the chipmunk and squirrel, which is heavy just previous to a hard winter, is found to be thin."

In addition to this, on our own account, some trees having no fruit at all. "Coon grapes, however, are plentiful. The mast in the woods is not great and nature seems to have made light provision for the birds and beasts."

J. D. Bridges, Editor "Democrat," Lancaster, N. H., says, "One Minute Cough Cure is the best remedy for croup I ever used. It immediately relieves and cures croup, colds, croup, asthma, pneumonia, bronchitis, grippe and all throat and lung troubles. It prevents consumption. From New Zealand.

REPTON, New Zealand, Nov. 23, 1899. I am very pleased to state that since I took the agency of Chamberlain's medicines the sale has been very large, more especially of the Cough Remedy. In two years I have sold more of this particular remedy than of all other makes for the previous five years. As to its efficacy, I have been informed by scores of persons of the good results they have received from it, and know its value from the use of it in my own household. It is so pleasant to take that we have to place the bottle beyond the reach of the children.

For sale by all Druggists.
